

National Centre for Computing Education (NCCE) Student Data

We means the National Centre for Computing Education (NCCE), run by STEM Learning on behalf of the Department for Education (DfE), our funder.

You and Your is the student or young person participating in the activity.

Examples of activity where we might collect your data:

- NCCE student events

Where you agree to take part in:

- Student attitude surveys
- Case studies

What we collect	Why we collect this information	Who we share your information with
Pupil name and school	So we know who is attending the event.	Event organisers and venues
Year group or key stage	To make sure that we have a balanced offer benefitting a range of age groups.	Event organisers
Gender	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • To ensure we are supporting participation from pupils of all genders. • To help teachers understand trends among different groups and support them to make changes. 	Event organisers When we report to your teachers or the DfE, we report numbers and do not include your name.
Accessibility and dietary requirements (for face-to-face events)	Where you give us your permission, we'll use this information to help us meet your requirements. We will	Event organisers and venues only share this data with the event organisers/venue where required.

Image and audio (for face-to-face events)	Where we have your consent, images or recordings may be used for marketing and promotional purposes.
Post-event survey feedback	For monitoring and reporting, and impact/evaluation purposes. Anonymised feedback may be used for marketing/promotional purposes.	When we share with your teachers or the DfE, we will not include your name.
Student attitudes towards computing (I Belong student surveys) Surveys are anonymous (do not include your name)	To help schools understand their students' attitudes towards computing and support them to make changes.	We share anonymous reports with your teachers and the DfE.